Virtual Bidder's Conference

February 28, 2023

10:00 am EST

- Is this your first time writing a proposal for a USAID funded activity?
- Does applying for US government funded projects seem daunting?
- Are you confused by the many requirements outlined in the RFP?

Then you are cordially invited to attend this Virtual Bidder's Conference! We will walk you through the RFP and have a Q&A session, so you can submit your most competitive proposal!

Digital Frontiers is a $90 million buy-in mechanism available to USAID Bureaus and Missions from 2017-2024. DAI implements the Digital Frontiers project, which works closely with USAID's Technology Division in the Innovation, Technology, and Research Hub (ITR/T) at the Development, Democracy, and Innovation (DDI) Bureau, USAID Missions, the private sector, and international and local development organizations to identify successful and sustainable digital development approaches and scale their impact globally

DAI, the implementer of the USAID-funded Digital Frontiers program, invites qualified offerors to submit proposals to support the development of a three to five minute video to raise awareness among USAID Staff on the potential risks associated with the increased use of digital technology in Sub-Saharan Africa. The goal will be to create a better understanding of digital risks, mitigation strategies, and include a call to action for USAID staff to consider these issues in their work.
